METHODOLOGY AND TRAINING PLAN

We refer to the set of rational procedures used to achieve a specific objective or a range of objectives that guide scientific research, doctrinal exposition, or specialized tasks requiring particular skills or knowledge.

HOW WE DO IT

1. Collect, accredit and evaluate the good work that has been developed with the players in previous years.
2. Recognize, develop and optimize a methodology for all the teams that constitute the formative stages to generate a progression in development.
3. Unifying criteria between the different areas that involve player training.

WHY WE DO IT?

1. Individually improve each of our players globally considering all the areas that involve their teaching-learning process.
2. Develop a collective improvement in each of the teams from an individual matrix.
3. Reason, control and evaluate the individual progression of each player.
